PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: June 25, 2013

EAGLE ENERGY TRUST PROVIDES ALTERNATIVE
CONTACT DETAILS DUE TO CALGARY FLOOD DISRUPTION

Calgary, Alberta – June 25, 2013 – Eagle Energy Trust (TSX: EGL.UN) wishes to confirm that the recent flooding in Alberta has had no impact on our operations in Texas. Although our headquarters' building in downtown Calgary is currently inaccessible due to evacuation orders from local emergency agencies, our offices in Houston, Luling and Midland are fully functioning.

The phone lines and email for our Calgary-based staff, and Eagle's website, will be fully functional once power is restored to our Calgary office, which we understand may occur mid-week. Eagle's Calgary office will stay closed until it is safe to have our employees return to the building. The City of Calgary has been steadily lifting evacuation orders and we hope to re-open and resume on-site business as usual as soon as possible.

In the interim, please contact Eagle's Houston-based office at (713) 300-3245 should you have any questions or require assistance concerning Eagle.

We are also pleased to confirm that all of our Calgary-based employees are safe from the flood danger. Our thoughts are with those who have been impacted by the severe flooding.
